DEMOCRATS MEET MONDAY
Progressives Satisfied With Committee Places and Get on All But Two

WASHINGTON, May 28.—Democrats of the house will caucus next Monday to consider a resolution to limit legislation at the extra session to tariff, currency and possible emergency appropriations, and to pass upon committee assignments. Democratic Leader Underwood, who will present the committee selections of all three parties, is expected to introduce the resolution outlining the house program for the session. The call for the caucus was issued today by Representative Palmer, of Pennsylvania, chairman. Some speechmaking on the committee assignments is expected, particularly concerning the good roads committee, the creation of which is opposed by some economy advocates. The ways and means committee majority is unfavorable toward the proposal for a committee on public health probably will be discussed also.

A call for a Republican caucus next Saturday afternoon will be issued tomorrow by Republican Leader Mann. The caucus is to consider the Republican commitment to the Roosevelt tariff bill, which Mr. Mann, although the leader has full authority to determine them, without caucus approval, if he chooses.

Ask All to Join Party.
The house progressives, with 10 of their total 49 present, met in open caucus today unanimously approved the committee assignments framed by their leader, Representative Murdock of Kansas, and adopted a resolution asking progressive men and women of all parties to join the Progressive party. It was the first time in the history of congress that a party conference had made its committee assignments at an open session.

Representative Chandler, of New York, opened a something of a stir by declaring that the progressives must not be overconfident that amalgamation with the progressive element in the Republican party was not a possibility of the future if the Republicans dropped their Penrose and their Barnes and adopted progressive principles. He was the only one present to urge this view, however.

Representative Murdock, pledged himself not to ally with the Republican party, and charged that the Republican gatherings recently had indicated their party was capable only of post mortem.

Committee Assignments.
The progressives were allowed representation on all the house committees except the rivers and harbors and agriculture, being given a total of 28 assignments.

K. C. BUSINESS MEN ENTERTAINED HERE

The Kansas City Commercial club, 400 strong, swooped down on Colorado Springs yesterday afternoon and while here spent two of the business hours of its career. The members arrived over the Rock Island in their special train at 2:45 o'clock and were met at the depot by members of the Chamber of Commerce with automobiles.

The visitors were loaded into the machines and taken on a ride through the north part of the city and back to the business section. The procession was headed by the Commercial club band, riding in one of the Crystal park automobiles. After the trip through the business section of the city the visitors were taken to Manitou and returned via the G. & N. to the hotel and the hotel.

Upon their return to this city they were taken to the Chamber of Commerce rooms, where they were served with Manitou water and cigars, while the members of the Chamber of Commerce remained until the departure of their train in visiting friends and business men of this city.

After the trip to Manitou the members of the band, several of whom were business men of the Manitou band, were entertained by that organization at the Elks club.

The Chamber of Commerce entertaining committee, composed of J. J. Eubank, E. G. Brinkworth, S. P. Evans, F. P. Wolff, Dr. W. A. Campbell, Mark E. Raftery, J. R. Taggart and William D. Dunning, had charge of the entertainment of the visitors.

"STEEL TRUST IS NOT MONOPOLY"

--Judge Gary
GOOD BUSINESS BUT NOT "SQUEEZE OUT"

of Company Tells of Ases of Smaller Corporations

NEW YORK, May 28.—Judge Gilbert H. Gary, chairman of the United States Steel corporation, and the man who conducted many of the negotiations which led to the organization, declared on the witness stand today that neither he nor the late J. P. Morgan nor anybody else concerned ever had discussed during these negotiations the question of obtaining a monopoly in the steel industry or of suppressing competition. Judge Gary was testifying as a witness for the defense in the suit to dissolve the corporation under the Sherman anti-trust law.

Judge Gary denied that the Steel corporation had been overcapitalized as alleged by the government. He denied that the Federal Steel company, the nucleus around which the corporation was formed, was a monopoly in itself, as alleged by the government. The organization of the corporation was precipitated, Judge Gary said, by the desire of the Federal Steel company to perfect a "rounded out" organization.

This opportunity came when Andrew Carnegie offered to sell the Carnegie Steel company. Charles M. Schwab, he said, outlined to Mr. Morgan the advantages of acquiring the Carnegie property. Mr. Morgan was "impressed" and called in the directors of the Federal Steel company.

Judge Gary described the meeting of the directors at Mr. Morgan's office and laid emphasis on the financiers' desire to know whether it was a good business proposition and that nothing concerning the suppression of competition was said. At this meeting, the acquisition described how each fitted into the plan of a "self-contained organization."

"Was the alleged threat of Andrew Carnegie to go into the steel tube business discussed or alluded to by Mr. Morgan or any one else?"

It was not, said the witness.

Judge Gary said that he would not deny that competition existed "to some extent" between the Carnegie company and the Illinois Steel company, a subsidiary of the Federal Steel company.

"The Carnegie company did sell rails in the Chicago district lower than the Illinois," he testified, "and could do what they were near doing at one time—forcing the Illinois company into the hands of a receiver—and the Illinois could retaliate. But I don't think that was the kind of competition that should be considered. Each company had a natural territory of its own and they were not in competition in the bulk of their products. They lapped over but the competition was incidental."

Noted Playground Expert Will Take Charge in Springs

Arthur Murray, Jr., who is regarded as the foremost play instructor in the United States, will be the superintendent of the Colorado Springs playground, according to his telegraphed acceptance yesterday of an offer made him several days ago by the local playground and amusement commission.

Mr. Murray is expected to reach the Springs about the middle of June, prepared to enter on his duties at once. He was selected from a list of several other candidates and is highly recommended by the National Playground association of New York as one of the best specialists in the country. For the last two years he has been superintendent of play in the city of Cleveland, and for five years prior to that time was similarly engaged by the city of Auburn, N. Y.

The local commission desires to call attention to the fact that it is still in need of funds to carry out the work of equipping and maintaining a playground in Monument Valley park, and those who desire to aid the undertaking are asked to subscribe to the fund.

BILHERNESS SHOWN BY G. O. P. FACTION

Penrose and La Follette in Combination—Three Elements Now Seen

WASHINGTON, May 28.—An extraordinary incident occurred in the senate the other day when Mr. Simmons, chairman of the Finance Committee, who is in charge of the fight for the Democratic tariff bill on the floor, refused the request of Mr. Penrose, the last Republican chairman of the committee, for permission to print 2,000 copies of the Penrose-La Follette amendment to the tariff bill to commit the tariff bill to the finance committee. Such an objection is practically unheard of in the senate. It is a violation of all precedent of senatorial courtesy. Mr. Penrose explained that he had had numerous requests from his constituents for copies of the amendment giving the questions which he and his new Republican ally, Mr. La Follette, proposed to have asked before the finance committee. He explained that he desired to have the printing done as a personal matter in order to facilitate his replies to these requests. Mr. Penrose's friend and political ally, Mr. Smoot, joined insistently in the request and specifically invoked senatorial courtesy from his constituents for copies of the amendment giving the questions which he and his new Republican ally, Mr. La Follette, proposed to have asked before the finance committee. He explained that he desired to have the printing done as a personal matter in order to facilitate his replies to these requests. Mr. Penrose's friend and political ally, Mr. Smoot, joined insistently in the request and specifically invoked senatorial courtesy from his constituents for copies of the amendment giving the questions which he and his new Republican ally, Mr. La Follette, proposed to have asked before the finance committee.

The incident produced no small feeling in the senate, where personal feuds or requests involving senatorial courtesy are almost invariably granted. It is interpreted as furnishing an indication of the bitterness with which the Republican special interest senators are preparing to fight the Democratic tariff bill.

Shows Alliance.
The Penrose-La Follette amendment to the Senate Finance Committee to commit the tariff bill to the finance committee, furnished a new and striking indication of the looseness of the working alliance between the Pennsylvania boss and the Wisconsin near-Progressive. When the tariff bill came over from the house to the senate, Mr. Simmons, chairman of the finance committee, offered the formal motion to refer it to that committee. Thereupon, Mr. Penrose moved to amend by inserting the finance committee to hold hearings on the bill. This was a grandstand play on the part of the Republicans designed to delay the progress of the bill and to emphasize the protest of the special interests against it. The Democrats fought the Penrose amendment and the matter was not settled that day. At the next session of the senate, when the matter came up again, the Democrats still were not ready for a vote, some of their number being absent. They were instructed to the tactical maneuver of holding an executive session. Just as Mr. Bacon took the floor to give the executive session, Mr. La Follette interrupted with a request that Mr. Bacon yield to him for the offering of an amendment. Mr. Bacon did so and Mr. La Follette submitted an amendment to the Penrose amendment, including a long list of specific questions to be propounded to all manufacturers appearing at the hearings proposed by Mr. Penrose.

Instantly an interesting and significant thing happened. Mr. Penrose got to his feet and declared that although he had never heard the motion, he would support it.

Greeley Woman, Mother of 12, Charged With Poisoning Husband

GREELEY, May 28.—Mrs. Dora Kester, mother of a dozen children, was arrested, arraigned and held in a thousand dollars' bond today on a charge of attempting to poison her husband with strychnine. PERSINGER AND ANGELA GIANELLI REPORTED WED

Louis Persinger, the young Colorado Springs violinist, and Miss Angela Gianelli, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Gianelli, of Brooklyn, N. Y., were married secretly at the Church of the Ascension in New York city, Monday, May 19, according to a report which came to this city from New York yesterday. The report, which was to the effect that the Rev. John A. Bevington performed the ceremony, also stated that the bride admitted the ceremony, saying that the announcement was to have been made in the fall, when they will sail for Europe.

This report was neither confirmed nor denied directly at the Persinger home yesterday afternoon. Although Mrs. A. W. Persinger, mother of the violinist, said that she thought the report was a joke, perpetrated by some of the musical friends of the young people in New York city.

The reported bride is a talented pianist, the favorite pupil of Lehtienne, the great German pianist. She has been to Germany twice to study, and expects to go there for study again soon. She is at present with her parents in Brooklyn, but may visit Colorado Springs later in the summer.

Relatives Judge Trying Roosevelt Case in Springs

Clement Flannigan, a son of Judge Richard C. Flannigan, before whom the now famous Roosevelt-Newton libel case is being tried, is a temporary resident of Colorado Springs, and together with his aunt, Miss Anna Flannigan, is living at 2115 North Nevada avenue.

Young Flannigan is 24 years old and lives at Norway, Mich. He came to Colorado Springs a year ago last October for his health. Prior to that time he had been attending the State university of Michigan at Ann Arbor, and shortly after his graduation he arrived here. He had intended to enter the Harvard law school and further his himself to follow in his father's footsteps, but his health would not permit it. His aunt came here about two months ago and they will stay here some time longer.

When asked his opinion of Roosevelt, Flannigan would not commit himself, and he said his father's views on the subject are likewise unobtainable.

"JAPAN MUST FACE ENTIRE WEST WORLD"

Says London Standard on Alien Problem, Quoting Own Interests

LONDON, May 28.—In an editorial on the California Alien problem, the London Standard says that Japan is a purely business matter rather than to import into its sentiments of offended racial and national pride.

"As the allies of Japan and the first friends of the United States, the British people would do well to be reminded of the first magnitude of the negotiations left behind feelings of exasperation on either side," it says.

The Standard proceeds to show that the occidental world is interested in the larger aspects of the question raised by the California law. In British Columbia no less than in California, feeling against the settlement of Japanese and Chinese is strong. Australian Democracy has its own very decided views on the subject, even if the danger of a Japanese invasion is not great. But the paper adds, the president of unrestricted immigration would be dangerous should no country allow the demand for the same privileges, because to Chinese, a most efficient machine and has learned through a grim struggle for existence in his own overpopulated country the secret of subsisting on a minimum.

Not Insult to Race.
These considerations, continues the paper, should be borne in mind when the Japanese talk indignantly of the California attitude as an insult to their nation. The Japanese, if they have undergone a self-examination, must be conscious that race feeling plays no small part in their attitude towards the foreigner.

The desire to take it out of the foreigner in matters of business, is confined to no one class in Japan. In no country is the judge and magistrate less inclined to show partiality and some times even bias justice to foreign claims. No people are more successfully to squeeze out foreigners who are striving to make a living among them.

The Japanese, therefore, are advised to go slow in making an issue of the race question which if allowed to develop would oblige Japan eventually to face the united western world. "It is unthinkable," says the Standard in conclusion, "that Great Britain could view with indifference any disposition on the part of her present allies to attack America. Between the people of the great republic and ourselves there are ties of blood and common interests which could under no circumstances be disregarded."

SACRAMENTO, Cal., May 28.—S. Chura, a member of the upper house of the Japanese parliament, A. Harumi, a member of the lower house, K. Yamamoto, secretary to Chura, and secretary of the Tokio Y. M. C. A., and K. Abiko, a Japanese newspaper editor, arrived in Sacramento tonight to pay a visit to Governor Johnson, and learn at first hand what objection Californians have to Japanese land ownership.

TOKIO, May 28.—The Japanese foreign office has given out a statement that the efforts of the foreign office in the California question have not been as successful as might be wished, but that the negotiations with the United States government are proceeding.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 28.—At a meeting of the Japanese Association of America, today's resolution was adopted providing for the sending of two delegates to Washington to confer with Ambassador Gihon on the anti-alien land law and the general condition of Japanese subjects in California. The delegates selected were George Shimizu, president of the Japanese association, known as the "potato king," and Abiko, proprietor of the Japanese American, a local newspaper.

BALKAN PEACE WILL BE SIGNED FRIDAY

Servians and Greeks Agree Under Compulsion, Is London Dispatch

LONDON, May 28.—It generally is believed that the Servian and Greek delegates will sign the draft of peace treaty under compulsion. The only hopeful development in the quarrel between the allies is an arrangement whereby the Servian and Bulgarian premiers will meet Saturday on the frontier to confer over the situation.

Speaking before the Skupstina today, the Servian premier explained that Servia desired a modification of the treaty with Bulgaria regarding the division of territory because the results of the war, combined with the actions of the powers, created a situation not foreseen when the treaty was signed.

An Athens dispatch to the Daily Telegraph says that instructions have been sent to the Greek delegates to sign the peace draft without alteration, but embodying a separate protocol respecting the right reserved by Greece to discuss with the powers the points raised.

The Servian council of state is considering the ultimatum as laid down yesterday by Sir Edward Grey, the British secretary for foreign affairs, and probably will follow the lead of Greece. Peace may be signed by noon Friday.

TARIFF MAKERS TO DROP REBATES

CLAIM INTERFERENCE OF FOREIGN TREATIES

Resolution to Be Introduced for U. S. Probe Into "Alleged" Lobby

WASHINGTON, May 28.—Congress in all probability will yield to the protests of foreign nations against the provision in the Underwood tariff bill granting a 5 per cent tariff discount on imports in American-owned or controlled vessels.

That the provision can be eliminated from the bill without harm, and that congress has no desire to insist upon legislation that will be embarrassing to foreign nations or interfere with treaty obligations was admitted today by administration leaders in charge of the bill. President Wilson is said to have indicated that he would not object to having the clause eliminated.

Foreign Nations Protest.
This action, it was reported, would be recommended by the senate finance subcommittee which is considering the administrative features of the bill. The subcommittee also will seek to modify provisions which compel foreign merchants to submit their books to an American agent in case of disputed valuations and provides as a penalty for refusal that the goods be excluded from entry.

Germany, France and England have made strong protests against this clause. Two important conferences were held today on the foreign protests. One was between Senator Simmons, chairman of the finance committee and Secretary of State Bryan. The other was between Senators Williams and Representative Peters, of Massachusetts, who had charge of the administrative section of the tariff bill for the house ways and means committee.

Clause Violated Treaties.
It was reported that the state department held it to be unquestionable that the 5 per cent deboning clause violated foreign treaties. Protests against the clause from eight nations were read.

It was generally expected tonight that the house would yield to a senate amendment striking out the clause. Several Democratic leaders were emphatic in declaring that the committee would make no changes in raw wool or sugar. The fight to change them will be made in the coming days. The present prospect is that the administrative provisions will not yield under a report that the rates on woolen manufactures would be increased was denied by Senator Simmons.

In response to a request from Senator Williams, Lincoln K. Passmore of the Pennsylvania Mutual Life Insurance company presented statistics today to establish the contention that his company is entirely unimpaired and that all its funds are exclusively devoted to the interest of the membership. Mr. Passmore declared that the proposed act discriminated against mutual life insurance companies.

Protests Heard Income Tax.
Representative Hull, of Tennessee, author of the income tax section of the bill, was in conference with Senators Williams and Shimizu for several hours, going over the provisions which have been filed. Mr. Hull pointed out later that the two chief features of the section which have been under fire were the clauses fixing the graduated tax—the surtax upon incomes over $20,000—and the provision for taxation of dividends of insurance companies.

Both of these provisions are being (Continued on Page Three)

LUMBER TRUST SUITS IN NORTHERN COLORADO NEVER PUSHED AND PEOPLE ARE ASKING WHY

New Attorney General Lives in That Section: Newspapers Won't Comment on Inactivity

SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.
GREELEY, May 28.—Is the lumber trust ever to be brought to trial? And if so, will it be convicted?

Those are questions that people of northern Colorado are puzzling over. All the leading lumber magazines of Greeley, Fort Collins and other cities and towns of northern Colorado were indicted for a conspiracy in restraint of trade by a grand jury last fall after an extensive investigation conducted by District Attorney George Carlson and the then attorney general of the state, Ben Griffith.

Almost seven months have passed since selection, and the lumber trust cases have not been heard. Some are blaming District Attorney Carlson for this state of affairs; they say he is not trying to push the cases, that the indictments were an election play, and having served their purpose, Carlson would be willing to have them dropped.

Judge and Attorney Changed.
But there is another side to the question. Ben Griffith is no longer attorney general. The present occupant of that office, Fred Farrar, is a resident of Fort Collins. And there are friends of Carlson who say that the attorney general's office does not offer that

SUICIDE IDENTIFIED AS DIVORCED WIFE OF PROF.

ST. PAUL, Minn., May 28.—The woman who committed suicide yesterday by jumping from a row boat on Lake Como, was identified absolutely today as Mrs. Florence Gehardt, divorced wife of Prof. George Gehardt of the Armour Institute of Chicago.

The identification was made by W. B. McDonald, of Minneapolis, said to be a friend of both Professor Gehardt and his divorced wife.

Mrs. Gehardt wrote several books under the pen name of "Helen Hale." Several days ago I was surprised by a call from Mrs. Gehardt at my home," McDonald said. "She was in a state of extreme nervous excitement. I advised her to go for a week or more to a sanatorium that her nervous system might become normal. She replied that her physician had advised her to take the time course."

R. Burnham, whose name was mentioned in a note left by Mrs. Gehardt before she committed suicide, made a statement through a Minneapolis attorney this afternoon in which he said Mrs. Gehardt and he were to have been married at Minneapolis, and that she came to Minneapolis for that purpose.

Attorney J. M. Carr, who has been representing Burnham, received a telegram tonight from the Rev. J. A. Adams, father of Mrs. Gehardt, asking him to take charge of the body and have it shipped to the Adams home in Chicago.

MEXICANS INSULT U. S. CONSULATE AT NOGALES

NOGALES, ARIZ., May 28.—Much indignation was aroused here today by the discovery that a number of persons had defiled the grounds of the United States consulate at Nogales, Sonora, Central Mexico, by erecting a monument to the town and a monument immediately was sent to remove the defilement.

Protestant prayers were made by local Sonora officials, who asserted that the defilement was made by enemies of the United States government, who sought to cause dissensions between the two neighboring nations.

Special agents were sent to guard the consulate building today.

DENVER COUNCILMEN WILL KEEP OFFICES

DENVER, May 28.—Members of the boards of aldermen and supervisors of Denver are reported to have announced tonight that they will not relinquish title in office in favor of the five commissioners elected last week. The determination to hold office is said to be based on the fact that the present city officials were elected for a term of four years, and that since the recall has not been invoked against any of them, they still are entitled to their political positions.

Auditor Mackay has announced that he will not sign any warrants for payment of city officials, with the exception of members of the fire and police departments, until the controversy has finally been settled.

Department heads have made no statements as to their intention, though it is rumored that they intend to follow the lead of the aldermen. Each member of the city administration, so far as the heads of departments are concerned, is under prelection pledge to endeavor to secure commission form of government for Denver at the earliest possible opportunity.

Cases regarding the validity of the commission form of government for Denver are now pending in the supreme court of the state and members of the city council declare they would be doing an injustice to their constituents should they deliver the reins of government to the commissioners-elect and then have the supreme court rule adversely to commission form of government. They declare the city then would be without any administrative or executive departments.

ALL LOVELY NOW IN CASE OF FRISCO RECEIVERSHIP

ST. LOUIS, May 28.—James E. Campbell, vice president of the St. Louis & San Francisco, and chairman of the North American company, on whose petition the receivers for the railroad were appointed, said today that there were no differences of opinion between the present management of the Frisco and R. F. Yoakum, chairman of the board of directors.

"Mr. Yoakum," he continued, "did the best he could under the circumstances."

It was stated in financial and railroad circles here today that the receivership would result in a contest for the ultimate control of the property. At present no further demands will be made on the federal court for the appointment of a third receiver.

President Whitehead of the Frisco, who is one of the receivers of the railroad, said today that the receivership of the Frisco and of its subsidiary, the Chicago & Eastern Illinois, did not necessarily mean the divorce of the properties.

Interviews with railway officials, however, indicate that this point is to be determined.

ILLINOIS BUSINESS MEN FIGHT FATAL DUEL AFTER MAKING OUT THEIR WILLS

BLOOMINGTON, Ill., May 28.—Joseph H. Stoughton and Grant Preble, business men of Bloomington, 15 miles north of here, shot each other probably fatally tonight in a revolver duel in the street.

Stoughton went to the office of an attorney and made his will. He then walked down the street and shot at Preble, who was in front of his house. Preble, shot through the lungs, fled into the house, procured a revolver, and fired two bullets into Stoughton. Comments about Stoughton's business affairs, which Preble is alleged to have made, are said to have caused the trouble.

MELTING SNOWS CAUSE BAD FLOODS IN MONTANA

MISSOULA, Mont., May 28.—Melting snow caused flood conditions in Montana to exist today in the vicinity of Columbia Falls, Kallispell and the Flathead lake. The Flathead river has risen three feet in the last 24 hours. At Columbia Falls the new $200,000 steel bridge across the Flathead is toppling and cannot be saved. Flood of water rushing out of the mountains is playing havoc with property along the lowlands and threatening heavy damage to grain fields. Persons living in the low lands are preparing for emergencies.

Rattlesnake creek, which traverses the city of Missoula, tonight washed away one of the principal bridges in the eastern part of town.

Cooler weather has caused a slight recession of the water in the Flathead river, but numerous bridges are covered and may go out. Railway traffic has not been generally interrupted.

Walsh Bank Creditors Sue Billings for Cash

CHICAGO, May 28.—Suits to hold C. K. G. Billings, banker and sportsman of New York and Chicago, responsible for approximately $5,000,000 due to the failure of the John R. Walsh bank, the Chicago National and the Home Savings, were begun in the circuit court here today. Stockholders charged Billings' negligence as director permitted Walsh to operate his scheme.

LEADVILLE SCHOOLS ARE ON STRIKE OF PROTEST

LEADVILLE, Colo., May 28.—Nearly 200 pupils of the high school inaugurated a strike this morning, as a protest against the discharge of the city superintendent, S. L. Stoner. The pupils paraded the principal streets of the city and attempted to bring out students from other schools, but in this were not successful. The dismissal of Superintendent Stoner is the result of a controversy of long standing among the high school faculty. A committee of students say they will not return to school until Stoner is reinstated. There is much public feeling aroused and a meeting of citizens has been called for tomorrow night.

Stand With Railroads to Get Six Men on Board of Arbitration

SAN FRANCISCO, May 28.—The Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen in convention here, approved today a change in the organization's insurance methods. All policies hereafter will be paid in full when the members reach the age of 70. Proposals to adopt a form of paid-up insurance, such as that offered by the company, and also to make the loss of one eye total disability, were defeated.

A new policy for $2,000, available after August 1, was agreed to and the two lower grades of policies now in effect were raised $50 and $100, respectively. The increases will be added August 1.

The report of the committee on constitution and by-laws stood adopted tonight upon section 68.

President W. G. Lee announced tonight that the convention would not vote on an organization up to the question of a strike on the eastern roads, but that a referendum vote would be taken by the lodges of the eastern division, beginning July 15.

Change Erdman Plan.

Mr. Lee also announced that he would stand with the presidents of the eastern roads for a change in the Erdman act, increasing the size of the federal arbitration commission from three to six members. He said he had just received a telegram from Seth Low of New York, president of the civic federation, stating that all but one of the railroad presidents interviewed had decided in favor of a commission of six members.

President Lee said he was sure that Presidents Garretson of the Order of Railway Conductors, Stone of the locomotive engineers and Carter of the firemen would agree to this proposed change.

The aspirations of Columbus, O., to become the future home of the order met a dampening today; their proposition having been given scanty consideration. Another effort to press the matter will be made when the order of conventions is made.

While the proposals to make the conventions triennial instead of biennial was defeated, it will be brought up again in the form of a resolution to submit this question to a referendum vote of the lodges. An additional reason for reopening this question was recovered today when a telegram was received from President A. R. Barrer, president of the Order of Railway Conductors, now meeting at Detroit, stating that they have decided to hold triennial conventions and make St. Louis the permanent convention place.

In the final debate yesterday on the proposed federal compulsory workmen's compensation bill, W. D. Jackson, a delegate from Little Rock, Ark., sprang into prominence by leading successfully the opposition to the recommendations of the president and other officials of the brotherhood. Today President Lee called Jackson from the floor to take the gavel in committee of the whole and the Arkansas man presided during the committee session.

"MASHER-MAKING" GIRLS WANTED BY N. Y. POLICE

NEW YORK, May 28.—Geraldine Wingate, characterized by Judge Swann in the court of general sessions today as the "most dangerous woman" he had ever dealt with, is being sought by the police as witness in the case of Joseph Raho, sentenced early this month to a workhouse term on a charge of forcing Ada Miller, a girl with whom the missing Wingate woman associated, to have sexual intercourse in court today to show that Raho, instead of being a "masher," was victim of a blackmailing attempt made by the woman and the girl.

Raho, appeared from his sentence. The hearing was held today. Geraldine Wingate did not appear. Ada Miller related how she was used by her as a decoy to lure with men on the street and entrap them. According to the district attorney, the Miller girl was only one of a number of girls employed by Geraldine Wingate for the same purpose. When Raho was arrested Miss Wingate, it was declared, announced herself as a white slave investigator. She was known in Chicago as having claimed to be Admiral Wingate's daughter and obtaining it was charged, goods from several stores on this ground.

GOVERNMENT TRYING TO ROUND OUT CASE

Boston Banker Tells of Wood's Connection With the "Planting"

BOSTON, May 28.—Another big crowd listened today to the evidence introduced by District Attorney Feltier in support of the charge that William Wood, president of the American Woolen company, and Frederick E. Atteaux, a dye manufacturer, conspired with others to "plant" dynamite at Lawrence to cast suspicion upon the "planting" of dynamite.

One of the many witnesses called in an attempt to fill in the gaps in the government's case and connect more closely the officials with the alleged plot was Max Mitchell, a banker of Boston, whose direct examination apparently was intended to show intimacy between Wood and Atteaux. On cross-examination he was used as a character witness for Atteaux. Mitchell told of Atteaux's endeavors to bring about a settlement of the strike and said it was due to the efforts of the dye manufacturer and that many of the conferences between strikers and the company officials were held.

Several times the prosecutor has questioned witnesses concerning the whereabouts of Charles A. Hardy, an official of the American Woolen company and Orville Reddick, formerly employed by Wood as a chauffeur but without receiving any information. Today three police officers testified that they had been unable to serve a summons on Hardy requiring his attendance at the trial and Atteaux's no-doubt inspector testified similarly regarding his efforts to locate Reddick.

The danger of the plant was illustrated in the testimony of Joseph Assaf, a Syrian painter of Lawrence, in whose home some of the explosive was placed. Assaf said that when he opened the package he thought the sticks might be some new form of paint. He tried to burn a stick and then smelled of the scorched portion. Later on he showed the stick to a person who told him it was dynamite. He intended taking it to the police station and hid it for safe keeping in his bedroom where it was found later by the police who arrested him.

SHOE MACHINE TRUST BOUGHT INVENTORS, AND DID NOT "FREEZE OUT"

BOSTON, May 28.—The majority of not all the subsidiary companies bought by the United Shoe Machinery company were not actually competing companies, according to testimony which Charles F. Choate, counsel for the company in the dissolution proceedings now pending in the United States district court brought out today. Forty-two of these companies now have ceased to do business.

Companies that are making machines such as work similar to those manufactured by the defendant, the government had the right to sue as competing in cross-examination the patent attorney for the defendant, Nelson W. Howard. Mr. Choate aimed to show that while the machines acquired did similar work in many cases they were for the most part superior to those of the defendant.

Some of the companies acquired were agents, others manufactured accessories to the shoe machinery business, while many more were engaged in developing and manufacturing implements according to the evidence of the cross examination. The only business acquired belonging to individuals, it appeared from the testimony, was that of men who showed a decided genius for invention and the men were taken into the employ of the defendant to duplicate machines in process of completion.

NEW JAP PARTY SAYS CABINET IS INEFFICIENT

TOKIO, May 28.—The executive committee of Premier Count Katsura's new party today issued a statement declaring that the present cabinet had not been called upon to settle the California claim and remedy the situation and adding that after a conference with Count Katsura, who is convalescent from a recent illness, the party had decided to adopt its own program with regard to the dispute.

There are indications that the opposition parties in Japan are utilizing the California problem to discredit the Tamagawa ministry and to further their own interests.

The cabinet, however, is generally conceded to be in a strong position with the public, chiefly because of the extensive economic and administrative reforms which it has brought about.

WHILE ATTORNEY SEEKS A HABEAS CORPUS WRIT OFFICER TAKES PRISONER

CHICAGO, May 28.—Edmund E. C. von Klein, charged by Miss Ethel Newcomb of Portland, Ore., with having stolen jewelry valued at $2,325 from her after proposing marriage, is being held to be on his way to Portland tonight in charge of a detective from that city.

Von Klein failed to gain his liberty at a habeas corpus hearing today, and was remanded to jail. Immediately afterwards, detective Joseph Day of Portland, took him from the jail in an automobile and it is believed they are en route to Portland. At the time von Klein left the jail his attorney was in the federal courts, seeking to have issued another writ of habeas corpus for his client.

SENATOR STILWELL GETS FOUR YEARS IN SING SING

NEW YORK, May 28.—Former State Senator Stephen J. Stilwell, convicted of bribery by a jury last week, after he had been exonerated by the New York state senate, was sentenced today to serve not less than four years nor more than eight in Sing Sing prison.

Supreme Court Justice Sutherland, who presided at Stilwell's trial, pronounced sentence and granted a stay of execution in order that the convicted senator's lawyers might apply for a certificate of reasonable doubt. No trace of emotion crossed Stilwell's face as he heard the sentence. Justice Sutherland's words had hardly died away before Stilwell was led back to the Tombs.

He smiled at friends and sympathizers as he was walked away.

before, he was heartily in favor of it, and would accept the amendment at once.

So the Jia-Belle-Pentose working alliance came out into the open.

Three Elements Now.
What was the Republican party 15 months ago is now split into three elements: the now-Progressive-ex-Republicans, the still-Republican-near-Progressives, and the always-Republican-always-standpatters. Fifteen months ago the now-Progressive-ex-Republicans and the still-Republican-near-Progressives were cooperating in the adoption of certain reforms in the party organization and law. They had been defeated by the standpatters in several efforts to secure the adoption of these reforms, but were continuing to fight. This effort on the part of the now-Progressive-ex-Republicans ceased with the campaign which culminated in the notorious Republican national convention of 1912. After that convention this element of the Republicans left the old party and organized the Progressive party, adopted by the Progressive party all the reforms for which they had been struggling in the Republican party and went considerably farther by the application of the principles of the initiative, referendum and recall to the party law. So that now every reform in the party organization for which the Progressive element of Republicans had contended has been adopted by the Progressive party and is part of its law. In the contest which followed, the now-Progressive-ex-Republicans attracted to their party at least 1,000,000 Progressive Democrats.

Abandon New Ideals.
For reasons of their own, the still-Republican-near-Progressives chose to remain with the Republican party, in which they are endeavoring to maintain the old struggle for the adoption of these party reforms. And now these still-Republican-near-Progressives come to the now-Progressive-ex-Republicans with the proposition that they shall abandon the reforms accomplished by the new party and return to the old organization and take up again the old fight, which has always been unsuccessful.

This is the point of the appeal put out by the recent Cummins-Hadley-Borah Chicago conference. The best that the gentlemen can offer to Progressives in the way of demand for acceptance of their invitation is the reestablishment of the old condition of struggle between the Progressives, and the standpatters, with absolutely no assurance that the result of the renewed strife would be in the least different from what it always was before.

LUMBER TRUST

a doubt the existence of a lumber trust. The evidence secured by the district attorney tends to show that every city in the state had its lumber dealers pool, with the clearing house of the combine in Denver. It didn't make the least difference in whose hands the consumer placed his bill for lumber and other building material, nor in how many hands he got practically the same figures from all for the bill, no matter where placed, was immediately sent to the combine's clearing house and from there to all the yards where the consumer was likely to apply for bids. The only variation allowed in the various bids was in the odd cents.

Pool Commission System.
The combine, it is alleged, had an agent called its pool commissioner. His duties were to go from town to town, and in each town to check over the sales of each lumber firm and divide the profits of the month or quarter's business. If any dealer was caught selling prices he was fined. If any dealer was caught covering up sales he was fined. If the fine did not work, he was blacklisted; at headquarters and could not have more stock until he had satisfied the all-powerful combine that he would in the future be good.

The lumber firms in Denver and all northern Colorado cities and the individuals composing these firms are defendants in the case. Among the individual defendants are some very influential men, especially in Greeley, Fort Collins, Longmont, Loveland, Boulder and Denver. Naturally all the influence of these men is being exerted towards the dissipation of these suits, or the sidetracking them through some technicality. And their influence also is exerted towards keeping out of the papers any undue discussion of the trust or its affairs at this critical time.

It is the strength of these influences that makes the people of northern Colorado wonder how these cases will come out. Friends of Carlson say he has proved his courage when he sent Shockey and the grafting commission to the penitentiary; they maintain he will push these lumber cases to the limit.

But the judge and the attorney general are new equations. And the people, interested in these suits, are wondering what they will do.

On several occasions in British history the authorities have had to issue edicts against golf, because its attractions kept men from joining branches of the military service.

Woman Tells How She Saves Gas

An economical housekeeper, who always manages to keep her gas bill low, when everybody knows that she does a great deal of ironing every week, told some friends the other day how she does it.

She said: "It is just because I only use the gas I need, and then promptly turn it off. Yes, I suppose everybody thinks that, but does everybody know of this discovery of mine?"

"I iron all the handkerchiefs and napkins on both sides while the irons are hot, laying them aside flat as soon as they are ironed, to be folded after the gas is shut off. As soon as I am through with the actual ironing I turn the burner off, and then fold and crease the napkins and handkerchiefs that have previously been ironed. I find that there is enough heat left in the irons to crease them, and the length of time it takes me to fold them neatly convinces me that I once wasted a good deal of gas while I was ironing. I don't even heat the irons extra hot for this sort of work, unless I have an unusual number of pieces, and if I put the iron back on the hot plate from time to time it stays warm enough. And really the saving of fuel is surprising."

Musical Tea Today

Both El hospital, which hears and answers to many calls upon its medical facilities and its treasury for the aid of the sick and wounded of the city, in its turn asks the city to help it by going to the musical tea that is to be given in the hall room of the Avoca hotel this afternoon at 3 o'clock. There will be no admission but a silver offering will be received.

A number of the prominent musicians of Colorado Springs have consented to appear at the program, which has been arranged by Miss Evelyn Lennox, and it is due to them, as well as to the hospital, that the tea should be well patronized.

DENVER ELECTION AFTERMATH

THE Arnold administration in Denver lasted less than thirteen months. It went into office on the crest of a wave of reform inspired by deep disgust with eight years of corruption and misrule under Mayor Speer. But Arnold and his followers could not, or did not, live up to their promises, and there was a speedy reaction. In the election last week, the first one held under the new commission form of government, nearly everybody who bore the label of reform or progressivism was overwhelmingly defeated.

Now throughout the state the election is spoken of as a defeat for the Progressives. So it was, but it was also a defeat not only for members of the Progressive party but of the candidates of other parties who had progressive leanings, with the one exception of Otto Thum.

Denver, worried by months of business depression, disgusted by the failure of the Arnold regime, has gone back to the arms of the corporations. Clearly, Denver is willing to do anything that offers a chance of getting a few extra dollars; it is willing to open up its redlight district again and to bring back the good old days of the wide-open town.

The old bi-partisan machine, controlled by men who use both the Republican and Democratic parties to advance their own interests, combined with the corporations and the powers of the underworld, and the combination was irresistible. It swept Denver by a majority which shows that the people wanted a change, and which also shows that they are going to have it. Now it remains to be seen whether they will be satisfied with that they get. If the future is to be judged by the past it will not be more than six months until Denver will again be howling lustily over the oppressive misrule of its bosses.

All Progressives went down before the reaction. McGowan and Randolph Walker of the old Citizens party, as well as Stocker, Burns, Sullivan, and Temple of the Progressive party. The latter had the endorsement of all church organizations, but that, in view of the prevailing sentiment in Denver, weakened, rather than strengthened them. Thousands of church people, judging from the returns, voted for a wide-open town and the rule of the corporations.

But no one expects the reaction to last. The corporations and the wide-open element have, temporarily, come back, but their revival is only temporary. Already forces are at work for the formation in Denver of a municipal party, embracing all progressives, and offering a definite program of municipal improvement through municipal ownership and the enforcement of the laws. And no one can doubt the success of such a party within a very few years.

AN INDUSTRIAL EXPOSITION

COLORADO citizens who do business in New York are often surprised to find how little this state is known in the metropolis. New York is famous for its provincialism; its people do not concern themselves much with what goes on west of the Alleghenies, and of course they know far less of the Middle West and the Rocky Mountain Region than westerners know of New York.

This condition would be mutually satisfactory if it were not that New York is the financial center of the country and in the long run the West must look to it for the money so urgently needed for development. And the West must look to the East for a market for its increasing products.

As the case stands there are very few people in New York who know, for instance, that Colorado is a great fruit-producing state, and that its apples and peaches are equal, and usually superior, to those of any other fruit growing region. The result is that Colorado fruit is not to be had in New York, for people there fondly imagine that the only good peaches come from Delaware and Georgia, and the only good apples from Michigan, Missouri and Arkansas.

The same thing can be said of other Colorado products and of Colorado resources in general. Our everlasting political turmoil and freak legislation have given Colorado investments a bad name in the East. New York bankers are afraid to put money in Colorado securities, partly because they are afraid of our politics and partly because they are unfamiliar with our splendid undeveloped resources.

The State Board of Immigration has suggested a plan whereby much of this prejudice and lack of accurate information may be overcome. The proposal is to hold a Colorado Industrial Exposition in the Grand Central Palace, New York City, throughout the month of November next. The exposition would cover all of the first three floors of the immense building, which is situated in the heart of the city adjoining the new Grand Central station. Comprehensive exhibits would be made of all the resources of Colorado and especially the products of the soil and the mines.

It is estimated that $100,000 will be required for this plan, and about one-third of the sum has already been tentatively subscribed by large financial interests which are concerned in exploiting Colorado in the East. At four o'clock this afternoon a meeting will be held in the Chamber of Commerce rooms, at which representatives of the Immigration Board will explain the project with a view to interesting Colorado Springs in the exhibition. The meeting should be largely attended, for it is a matter of no little importance to this city as well as to the entire state.

WORKING TOGETHER

THE particular purpose of the Chamber of Commerce meeting last Tuesday evening was to give any members who might have complaints an opportunity to express them publicly. In other words, it was a "kickers' meeting." Not that the percentage of kicks and kickers was abnormally high, but it was felt that in an organization of 700 members it would be a good thing occasionally to have a meeting for the express purpose of hearing complaints and suggestions. There was a big attendance, but the fact that no real kicks were expressed while many good suggestions were made indicates that the members of the Chamber of Commerce are pretty well satisfied with their organization.

Looking back three years, to a time prior to the consolidation of the old civic organizations into one effective body, it is surprising to note the progress made. There is a better civic spirit in Colorado Springs today than ever before. The people show more pride in their city, a greater willingness to work for its advancement, and an ability to get together and stick together which was formerly almost unknown. This change is due more to the Chamber of Commerce than to any other agency, and is the strongest argument for the continued enthusiastic support of that body.

GET READY FOR THE CARNIVAL

THE organization of the Carnival Committee for 1913 is complete; a secretary and a publicity agent have been appointed, and the decks are cleared for action. The committee will now set about the work of arranging details, raising money and getting everything in shape for the best and biggest summer carnival ever held in Colorado.

This is to be the third event of its kind, and the experience gained in the past will aid largely in making it even more successful than the others. The carnival advertises Colorado Springs and provides amusement for both visitors and residents. It deserves, and must receive, the cordial support of the community.

FROM OTHER PENS

RESPONSIBILITY OF ART FOR FASHIONS.

From the Christian Science Monitor.
A great step was taken in the United States when an art commission was created for the purpose of inquiring into, and to a large extent regulating, federal architecture, sculpture and public grounds embellishments. Several of the American cities have followed this example, and all achievements with art pretensions in these communities are now subjected to scrutiny, before they are accepted for public use. If such precautions had been taken many years ago, almost innumerable mistakes might have been avoided. Certain it is that public buildings, sculpture and embellishments that in many quarters offend an educated taste today would never have been accepted.

An article in a recent issue of the Monitor on "Artists and Mode of the Day" leads naturally to consideration of the responsibility of art for the existence of what the world knows as the fashions. Art and fashions have always been closely associated, in fact, the fashions should always be, although they frequently are not, a very high expression of art. The French have applied art very successfully to the styles. So, indeed, have the English, the Germans and the Austrians. So, it may be added, have the Americans and other peoples. But Paris, London, Berlin, Vienna and New York during recent years have fallen into the lamentable attitude of following, rather than leading in the mode. The same argument that is raised by the publisher of questionable "news," by the writer and producer of questionable plays, by the painters of questionable pictures, that the public must have what it wants is being heard in the fashions. The cause of decadence in each instance is a lack of moral fiber in the producing factor. The public, in reality, often does not want what is prepared for it, rather, we think, it is led to believe that it must take what is offered or go without.

Art in fashions is in every other department finds expression in almost countless ways. There is no general agreement as to just what form this expression should assume for any given purpose. But there is no lack of agreement as to standards in art expression. Where sincerity, rather than a desire for notoriety, governs, the line dividing good from bad taste is clearly and strongly defined. Art consciousness, known full and true, is the great asset and those who profess it must take responsibility for the wrong to public culture done in the name of art by those who use it for unworthy purposes, in proportion, at least, to the toleration they give it. Art and artists may not always stem decadence and degeneracy, but they can always withdraw their sanction from these, and if they shall do this they will be doing much. Fashions will have advanced to a far higher plane than they occupy today when they shall be subjected to the tests that art applies now to other attempts at expression.

POPULARIZING OPERA.

From the Christian Science Monitor.
The commendable project, fostered by the City club of New York city, which would give to dwellers in the metropolis next season a chance to enjoy opera at rates adjusted to wage earners, clerks and struggling professional men's incomes, has yet to be brought to a final and perfect form. Various proposals have to be found. But the very fact that the project has been debated in serious conference and has such backing as it has among citizens of a kind who usually make their ideals come to pass is a wholesome sign of the times. So also is the plan of the supervisor of recreation in the same city, which, if approved by the mayor and by the park commissioner will lead to experimentation this summer in municipal opera. The performances to be given out of doors and staged at six of the city's recreation centers, English and Italian would be used. "Star" soloists, when secured, would be expected to contribute their services for the benefit of the masses. Admission prices would be low.

A test performance will settle many of the problems of rendition and patronage involved in the experiment, provided the higher city authorities consent to the plan as a whole. Promoters of the scheme are as confident of its workability as they are of its need. There is the amount of interest and devotion to the cause of popularized art that is leading to be latent and is becoming vocal and active in the metropolis. Conditions of living are altering so fast, the pace of living is so rapid, and the recreation place as a social anchor assumes such increased importance, that taxpayers are willing to meet demands of the bureau of recreation that a decade or so ago would have been ignored with contempt. Consequently appropriations for pageants, dances, song festivals, school tournaments and competitive athletic games in the parks and at the recreation centers now are made and on a scale that is generous and not stunted.

What this means in the way of a happier and wholesomely view of living for children of the tenements and the apartments and for the pupils in the schools, it is difficult to express in plain prose. To all this add plays and operas at all adequately rendered, and another phase of cultural growth will have been touched.

Why Women Remember Anniversaries

BY RUTH CAMERON

Almost all women are born symbolists. If more men realized that fact we should have more happy marriages.

What is simply an ordinary, unimportant fact to a man, and nothing more, is often the symbol of many vastly important facts to a woman. That is why a woman will sometimes make a terrible fuss over what seems a very little thing to a man, and that is why an ordinarily kind-hearted man will sometimes be hard and unsympathetic over what seems a very big thing to a woman.

That is why the least sentimental wife always remembers her wedding anniversary, and that is why the most devoted husband sometimes forgets the great day.

A young couple I used to know had their first quarrel because he left her to go to a ball game one Saturday afternoon when they had only been married a few months.

She didn't want to go but she protested herself quite willing to have him go, and thinking all was plain sailing, he went. When he came back he found his wife enveloped in that peculiar atmosphere of constraint which every young husband has occasionally encountered. All attempts to break through it proved vain; he was honestly mystified. After several rebuffs, he finally came to a head and pride and formal politeness dissolved into tears on one side and reassurances on the other. When the explanation stage arrived, the husband was truly astonished to find that it was all because he had gone to the ball game without her. "But you told me to go," he protested, with the obtuseness of a big blundering man. "I wanted you to go if you wanted to, but I didn't want you to want to," she sobbed. "But it was such a little thing anyway," he argued, man-wise. "Well, it wasn't just that you went to that game," she explained, woman-wise. "But I thought of all the times you would leave me in the future. It wasn't at all the fact that you went this time that troubled me, it was the thought that probably our tastes would differ more and more and some day you would always go off by yourself to have your good times."

To an unmarried man all that probably sounds like the veriest nonsense.

To a married man it probably sounds sadly familiar.

And to a woman it surely sounds natural and sensible.

Such is the symbolism of woman which sees in a little fact a thousand big facts.

And such is the misery this symbolism causes when it isn't understood.

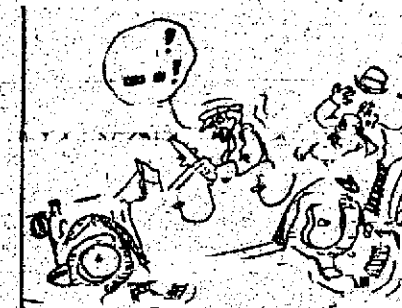

Any man who will take this tendency into account will double his chances of matrimonial happiness.

YONKERS

By GEORGE FITCH,
Author of "At Good Old Swash"

Yonkers was originally located half a day's journey from New York city, but now it bounds New York on the north, and as soon as an automobilist passes out of range of the New York police, he has to begin watching for a Yonkers officer.

This doesn't mean that Yonkers has moved in the last hundred years. It is still doing business at the same old stand, but New York has marched 20 miles and unless something is done

Every driver makes some feeling remark about the down town pavements.

about it, it will swallow Yonkers before long, and make a Tammany district out of it.

Yonkers is a city of 30,000 people, and rises from the banks of the Hudson in terraces to the height of 450 feet. The social standing of Yonkersites can be accurately determined by the height of their residences above the water line. Those who live on the fifth floor, so to speak, are the cream of the city, while Yonkers is one place in the world where it doesn't pay to get in on the ground floor.

Yonkers was founded by the Dutch in 1659, but did not become a town until 1788, which makes it a mere infant in Westchester county. Half of its people work in its factories, and live under the hill, while the other half work in New York and speak of the suburban service in terms of the deepest feeling.

Yonkers has many residences built by new-made millionaires, and many palatial houses. From Park hill the tired capitalist can have the sight of 10 miles of Hudson river, with its meads, while Broadway runs through the center of the city, and the automobile owner can go clear through New York without change of streets.

Yonkers was the home of Samuel Tilden, and now contains Edwin A. Oliver, New York's most famous bachelor. It has a library donated by the usual party, five miles of factories on the river front, a large number of schools for young ladies concealed about its hills, and several semine-ck business buildings in its downtown section.

Yonkers is the largest city in the country which does not support a league baseball team. More automobiles pass through Yonkers daily than any other city in the country, and every driver makes some feeling remark about the downtown pavements.

PRISONER ROBS SHERIFF OF $70 AND ESCAPES

RIVERSIDE, Cal., May 28.—Sheriff Wilson arrived home today minus $70 and a prisoner, James Arthur Baker, who was being brought back from Kansas City to face charges of having obtained $1,000 from a Riverside bank on spurious checks. Baker stole the $70 from the sheriff and then escaped near Flagstaff, Arizona, from an upper berth of a sleeping car.

Baker, according to a statement credited to him, posed for a long time as a woman school teacher in the northwest. He also said he went through a marriage ceremony with a young attorney of Los Angeles.

NATIONAL TRIBUTE TO WASHINGTON

MRS. HENRY F. DIMOCK

After several years of persistent effort and quiet campaigning Mrs. Henry F. Dimock, president of the George Washington Memorial association, has announced that the plan for a great public building at Washington, which will be a national tribute to "The Father of His Country," has finally met with assured success. Mrs. Dimock announced that within a few weeks bids from architects would be asked for. "It will be a building for the people, created by the people," said Mrs. Dimock. "The subscriptions range from one little girl's 10 cents to $100,000 given by the late J. Pierpont Morgan."

WASHINGTON, May 28.—The 200 heirs of the 27 sailors who lost their lives in the sinking of the steamer Toga in the Chicago river in 1888 have won their suit against the steamship company after 25 years of litigation. Counsel for the many plaintiffs learned today that the United States supreme court had refused to interfere with the decision of the circuit court of appeals.

The Toga sank following the explosion of a large shipment of benzene and 27 bodies of members of the crew were identified. The hull, valued at $110,000, was impounded and after deducting court costs this, approximately, is the amount that will be distributed.

Flagler's Will Made in 1898 Gives Estate $100,000,000 to Widow

ST. AUGUSTINE, Fla., May 28.—The will of Henry M. Flagler was filed here. By its provisions J. R. Parrott, president of the Florida East Coast railroad, is to retain that post as long as he desires. The will states that this is in recognition of Mr. Parrott's great executive ability and his long and faithful service.

To the widow is left the bulk of the $100,000,000 estate, it being provided that the estate shall be handled for five years by J. R. Parrott, W. H. Beardsley and William R. Keenan as trustees. During which time Mrs. Flagler is to receive $100,000 annually. To Harry Flagler, his son, Mr. Flagler left 5,000 shares of Standard Oil of New Jersey stock.

Among other bequests is that of $100,000 to Hamilton college of Clinton, N. Y. Other colleges mentioned in the will as beneficiaries are cut off by codicils, as having been otherwise aided since the will was made. To J. R. Parrott, Mr. Flagler left $100,000, and to W. H. Beardsley of New York $50,000. Many smaller bequests were made to friends and servants.

The will was made in 1898.

Passing of Famous Astor House Scene of Interest

NEW YORK, May 28.—From time to time Broadway parts with its landmarks with quite as little concern as is due the loss of old teeth, but remarkable sentiment was aroused today over the passing of a favorite old landmark, the Astor house. Many old-time visitors to New York from Chicago, Washington and New England, points gathered in the corridors of the 80-year-old structure today to have a last look at their haunts and to spend their last night in the ancient beds. The stripping of the hotel will be begun as soon as the guests depart tomorrow, and rooms which have been occupied by such famous men as Lincoln, Webster and Clay and scores of other prominent men will be laid bare for the wreckers who will begin work in July. The demolition of the structure is made necessary by the purchase of the site by the city in connection with the new Broadway subway.

WASHINGTON, May 28.—Government construction of an Alaskan railroad from the water to the interior is expected to be recommended by the senate territories committee, when it meets Saturday. WANT SELL WATER BONDS DIRECT IN SMALL LOTS

Colorado Springs water refunding
bonds may be sold direct to purchasers instead of to bond houses. In the opinion of city officials, and City Attorney Hall now is working out the kind of bonds, their length of time and other questions pertaining to the issue.
His recommendations will be given to the city council at an early date. It is believed that the issue of refunding
bonds will be sold direct in small lots,
and if this is done it will be a considerable saving to the city. The plan was carried out in Philadelphia a short time ago, after efforts to dispose of an issue of $3,500,000 had failed.

Mayor McKesson reported to the council yesterday that the water system is in excellent condition, that the stream flow is good and that the water is "over the top" filling rapidly.
The mayor returned Tuesday night from a trip of inspection. The mayor said, however, that the consumption of water is averaging about 9,000,000 gallons daily, and that every effort should be made to conserve the supply.

In the opinion of the mayor, the position of this city is strengthened with regard to the Jackson franchise by the decision of the United States supreme court in the case of the city of Denver against the Denver Union
Water company.

"I believe," said the mayor, "that the Jackson franchise will revert to the city of Colorado Springs when it expires in 1925, unless the company
now holding it is given some new hold on the city in the meantime."
The Jackson franchise is worded peculiarly, saying that the city will extend the franchise on such terms as the then city council may see fit to impose, and of course in this respect it differs from the franchise of the Denver company, which says that the city may, at its expiration, extend the franchise or buy the plant. The supreme court holds, apparently, that neither of these courses is obligatory
on the city, and the position taken unquestionably favors this city in any similar contention that may arise regarding interpretation of the city's obligation in the case of the Jackson franchise.

PRISONER TAKEN HOME

George D. Evans, who for the last six months has spent his time alternately between the county jail and St.
Francis hospital, with a charge of perjury in obtaining a marriage license hanging over his head, is being taken to his home in Canon Co., attended by a trained nurse, for all hope of his recovery practically has been abandoned. District Attorney Prell has not dismissed the charge against Evans, but allowed him to start for home when the attending physicians stated there is no hope for his recovery.

Evans was taken ill with appendicitis some time ago while in the county jail, underwent an operation at St. Francis hospital, and rallied quickly. He was taken back to the jail, but soon suffered several hemorrhages, and had to be rushed to the hospital once more. His condition has grown worse steadily since that time.

Evans married Miss Eleanor Pitts of Manitou last July, and went with her to California. They disagreed and separated, but last December his wife enticed Evans back to this city, with letters in which she intimated she was anxious to be reconciled to him. As soon as he reached here, she had him arrested for nonsupport, but he was acquitted of that charge. Then she had him arrested for perjury on the ground that when he obtained his marriage license he swore that he had never been married, although, it is said, he had a wife living at the time.
Evans was tried twice on this second charge, but the jury disagreed both times. He was unable to give bond, and had to remain in the county jail.

ject of "Love and Family Troubles."

More Autos Needed for Friday's Parade

The Chamber of Commerce has received the promise of several automobiles to be used in conveying G. A. R.
veterans in the Memorial day parade,
but the number is still insufficient.
Every year it becomes more of a hardship for the veterans to make the long walk to the cemetery, and it is the plan this year to have them take the trip in automobiles. If you have an automobile, and wish to donate the use of it to the G. A. R. veterans for three hours tomorrow, call upon L.
Hiner, 444 N. 15th, or send word to the Chamber of Commerce.

MUST PAY FOR RAILS

Negotiations are in progress between County Commissioner W. T.
Kennedy and officials of the Colorado & Southern railroad, in regard to payment for 36 railroad rails which the county has used in reinforcing concrete in a bridge across Sand creek, east of this city. The rails were taken at a point south of Manitou Junction
from an old, abandoned line of the C.
& S., leading to Pueblo, and Road diversee W. P. Larrabee, who had charge of the work, thought at the time the rails were taken that the road had no intention of claiming them or holding them as its property. Officials of the road, however, discovering that the rails were missing, have since put in a claim for payment for them.

Wan, Weary and Worn Out

If You Feel Fagged to a Finish and Utterly Used Up Here is Quick Relief.

S. S. S. Makes Your Blood Corpuscles
Liable for Mutual Protection.

Half the people who most complain
of weary muscles, stagnant brain, jangled nerves, and a wonderful desire to lay down and just quit. Most of these people have been using nervines
that spasmodically drive up the nerves
only to die down again, as die they must. Avoid nerve stimulants. Bear in mind that this worn out feeling is due to poor blood, to bacteria in the water you drink, to the multiplying of destructive germs in the blood faster than they can be overcome by the white corpuscles; and to what is known as auto-toxemia, that condition
where the venous or impure blood accumulates faster than it can be replaced by the red arterial blood.

The medicinal value of the components of S. S. S. is relatively just as vital and essential to well-balanced health as those of the grains, meats,
fats and sugars of our food.
If you feel played out go to any drug store and ask for a bottle of S. S. S. Swift's Sure Specific. Here is a remedy that gets at the source of ways.

drugs, but from the rational effect of a natural medicine just as active and

$8,000 MUST BE RAISED BY COLLEGE IN 3 DAYS

The securing of $200,000 for the endowment fund of Colorado college depends on the pledging of $8,000 of that amount, still unaccounted for, by midnight Saturday night, as June 1 has been set as a time limit by some of the donors who already have made conditional pledges. President Slocum and the officers and students of the college are working night and day to secure the money.

The $8,000 deficit is part of $28,000,
a last portion of the whole $200,000 sought. When he went east, two months ago, Dr. Slocum secured from Andrew Carnegie a promise of $15,000, half the amount, if the rest can be raised in Colorado. Then a subscription of $1,000 was turned in, and later,
a few days ago, a prominent Colorado
business man, whose name has not been given out, told President Slocum that he will give $2,000 if five other men could give like amounts. Since then Dr. Slocum has secured another subscription of $2,000, leaving four more yet to be found within the next three days.

J. E. Cheely Delegate to I. T. U. Convention

Colorado Springs Typographical union
No. 82 at the convention of the International Typographical union in Nashville, Tenn., August 11, 1913.

Claims Fraud and Asks Recount of School Vote

Charges that because of discrimination by the board, Nellie Reynolds was illegally elected a director of school district No. 2, south of Colorado Springs, at a recent election, are made in a complaint filed in the county court yesterday by Alice Atkins and C. R. Atkins. The complaint asks that the ballot boxes be brought into court
and opened and the ballots counted,
and that the directors be restrained
from permitting Nellie Reynolds to qualify.

The complaint recites, as follows:
After the regular school election, May 5, the directors declared that the vote
for Alice Atkins and Nellie Reynolds had been a tie, and they then ordered another election for May 19. At this second election the polls were open only two hours and 34 minutes, instead of the three hours required by law.

She also alleges that several illegal votes were cast and counted for her opponent, and that several legal voters
were not permitted to cast their ballots
for her.

WARNED AGAINST IMPOSTER

Mrs. E. W. Rector of Hot Springs,
Ark., a daughter of the late James L.
Albion, former governor and United States senator, has written a letter to the local police, warning them of a woman who is going around through the west representing herself as his widow and soliciting money. She usually solicits from members of the daughters of the Confederacy, and the letter states that in several cities
she has obtained considerable money.

News of Local Courts

Lizzie Vinson, colored, convicted
Tuesday of running a disorderly house, was sentenced by Judge Little in the district court yesterday to serve six months in the county jail. This is the maximum penalty. Mrs. Vinson had previously waived her right to file a motion for a new trial, but pleaded for leniency on the ground that it was her first offense, and that she had been in jail 70 days awaiting trial.

Arguments on the motion of Atty-
ney General D. E. Welch, charged with perjury in obtaining a marriage license, be dismissed, were concluded in the district court yesterday. Judge
Little took the motion under advisement.

The Newton Lumber and Manufacturing company has filed suit in the district court to enforce a mechanic's lien for $508.45 against Ellis T. and Bessie Hermanson, Alice B. Taylor
and E. P. Huffard.

Arrests for violations of the traffic and automobile ordinance, which had slumped until only three people were brought into police court yesterday morning for such offenses, took a sudden jump yesterday, and eight offenders were ordered to appear before Judge Starrett this morning. They are: M. O. Aives, W. E. Castwright,
E. A. Beecher, L. J. Owen, the Rev. J.
H. Spencer, J. R. Puffer, F. C. Wheeler and V. Cooper. The following were fined $1 each yesterday: Dr. Gerald H. Webb, Fred Goodspeed and J. P.
Johnson.

Vagrancy brought a man calling himself Alker a fine of $10 in police court yesterday morning, and he was committed to jail in default of payment. Alker is known as Jim Riley, and is an ex-convict. He was sent to the penitentiary from this city in 1907
for burglary.

COLUMBIA SCHOOL WILL HOLD FIELD MEET TODAY

A button athletic contest will be held this afternoon at 2:30 at the Columbia school grounds. The pupils will be divided into two classes, Juniors and seniors, and the winners of the contest will receive prizes.
The contest will be given by the senior class, and the most individual points will receive a gold button, while the junior who leads his class in points won will be given a silver button.

WANT HUERFANO FILLED IN WEST OF THE VIADUCT

William Norton and A. M. Holden, two west side property owners, are at the head of a movement to secure the filling in of Huertano street between the viaduct and McKinley place, and probably will bring the matter up before the city council in the near future. More than half the necessary dirt for filling this place was hauled in at the time of the paving, and a fill of only three feet would be necessary to establish a uniform grade.
It is pointed out that this move will have to be made by the city some time,
and expense and trouble and probable damage suits can be avoided by doing the work at once. Should it become desirable to pave Colorado avenue this fill would have to be made before any work could be done, and this is another argument in favor of the work at the present time.

The strip of highway is at present
one of the most unsightly spots of the city, but by making the fill and doing other necessary work, such as putting in sidewalks and ornamental lights, it could be transformed into an attractive thoroughfare. It is probable that this matter will be placed before the West Side Improvement society in the near future. Steps already have been taken by this organization for the removal of the shacks in "Little Kansas," and the work of parking and improving this section will soon be started.

City Council Denies Requests for Funds

City officials yesterday announced that they cannot grant requests of the union depot commission and Civic league for appropriations, due to the lack of funds and the need for strict economy. The union depot commission wanted particularly to print its 1912 report, and the Civic league asked for not more than $400 with which to engage an expert to figure out the city's garbage.

At its regular meeting yesterday morning, the council, on recommendation of Finance Commissioner Eubank, denied the request of the Associated Charities that the license fee for a popcorn stand be remitted in the case of Jesse Humphreys, a blind man.
Eubank declared that many similar requests have come in, and that, although the sympathies with the persons involved, a had precedent would be set if any license were remitted.
The council renewed the liquor license of the El Paso club, which for the last eight days has been using the locker system, its former license having expired May 20. An application for liquor license from the Opera House Drug company was received and set for hearing June 11.

On recommendation of Police Commissioner Johnson, Mayor McKesson appointed R. P. Van Hook, police clerk, as clerk of the street department and civil service commission.
Carl F. Matthews was appointed police clerk to succeed Van Hook. Both appointments are for 60 days, pending
permanent appointments.
To Commissioner Lawton and the city attorney was referred a request from several property owners in the 170 block on South Weber street, that action be deferred pending investigation, on a permit for the construction of a livery barn on the west side of the street in that block.

The old bell is the best means of announcing the curfew hour, in the opinion of Commissioner Johnson, and steps will be taken to strengthen the bell tower. The bell also will be used in case of fire emergencies, as a notice
to water companies to stop sprinkling.
Commissioner Johnson reported against the removal of a light pole
from South Nevada, between Cucharas and Huertano, and against which some complaints have been received.

Miss Marie Lewis of Oklahoma.
Miss Marie Lewis, who comes from Oklahoma, had to file a petition in the surrogate's court in New York to be allowed to draw sufficient money from her estate to buy her wedding trouseau. The peculiar circumstances arise from the fact that Miss Lewis's mother, Mrs. Alice Lazarus, is divorced from her father and the state of Oklahoma does not allow the mother to have control of any property which the daughter might have in such a case, because the estate of Miss Lewis is composed of land owned by the Chortaw nation in Oklahoma. Marie is one-quarter Choctaw and inherited her property from her Indian ancestors.
The court ordered that Miss Lewis be given $398 with which to purchase her wedding garments.

Steransson Soon Will Pierce Far North to Discover an Unknown Continent

VICTORIA, B.C. May 28.—Viktor Steransson, Arctic explorer and discoverer of the "Blonde Eskimo," will leave here early next month on a four-year trip into the mysterious north in search of a new continent. Somewhere in the snowbound regions of the Arctic circle it is believed there lies a great continent of more than 1,000,000 square miles and it is for this that Steransson and his little party of scientists will search.

In these days when scarcely he part of the globe remains unexplored and the Arctic is a terra incognita, the discovery of such a new continent would be a great boon to the world.

Of Iceland Parentage.
Steransson was born in Winnipeg, of Icelandic parents. He is unmarried, which, in his opinion, should be the case with all Arctic explorers. He studied at Harvard and graduated. One of his hobbies is the study of the people of the north of Europe and the study of Norse literature.

Steransson has had considerable experience in exploration in the vicinity of the supposed continent. Not long ago he spent three years among the into polar regions. Steransson ran across a remarkable tribe of Eskimos. They had never seen a white man before and Steransson had never seen any Eskimos like them. Many of them had blue eyes and reddish hair with many of the facial characteristics of the Scandinavians.

"I felt certain," said Steransson on his return, "that I had accidentally run across the descendants of the Norsemen, who years before Columbus discovered America landed on the Greenland coast and became lost."

"I measured their features and found that the males had features very similar to the Eskimo-Scandinavian half-bloods of Greenland."

The Eskimos received Steransson

COLORADO CITY NEWS NOTES

J. Ryan left yesterday for the mining camp near Eagle, Colo.
W. O. W. camp No. 455 will hold a special meeting tomorrow night. A number of important matters will be considered.
Thomas Harrison, a switchman in the Colorado Midland yards, was struck by a switch engine Tuesday afternoon and received a number of severe bruises on the head and shoulders. He was taken to St. Francis hospital, where he is doing nicely.
The persons who daubed black paint over the newly painted Dunkard church have been run down by Chief of Police E. N. Wolfe and were to be small boys of the neighborhood. The parents of the boys paid the damages and asked that on account of the extreme youth of the offenders they be not prosecuted.

"MAN-WOMAN" WHO ESCAPED CAPTURED

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M., May 28.—James Arthur Baker, alleged notorious "man-woman" crook, arrested at Kansas City recently and who escaped at Flagstaff, Ariz., from Sheriff Wilson of Riverside, Cal., and a deputy, while being taken back to that city for trial on a charge of grand larceny and forgery, was captured here today by Chief of Police Thomas McMillin. Baker at first denied his identity, but broke down a desperate attempt to escape after reaching the city jail, being thwarted by a newspaper reporter and Chief McMillin after a struggle.

Baker told of his escape from a drawing room of a Santa Fe train, while the officers slept. He crawled through the ventilator in the ceiling of the car and rode on top of the Pullman to the first stop, where he jumped off and escaped. With $20 which he had taken from a pocketbook belonging to one of the officers, he bought a ticket east on the next train, arriving here yesterday. He declared he was on his way to a store to buy a feminine garb with which he disguised himself when arrested. Baker will be held here pending the arrival of the California sheriff.

Macchia, Me. will celebrate the one hundredth and fiftieth anniversary of the town this summer, probably in August. Definite plans have not been made, but an historical pageant has been suggested.

In 1890 the area of the United States was 3,628,135 and in 1912, 3,626,759 square miles.

Ignorance of it is explained, however, by the fact that practically all polar exploring of the past has been confined to hurried dashes to the region of the pole. Nearly all Arctic expeditions have had as their primary objects the discovery of the pole. Now that Peary has attained that object, expeditions of the future will devote more time to exploring the Arctic circle and to scientific research.

Believe Continent Exists.

The reason which Steransson will explain is not, however, the "beautiful story" that is the way it appears upon the face of it. It is the fact that although many explorers, including Dr. Nansen and Amundsen, are inclined to believe that it is there, Steransson and Commander Peary, however, believe that it is a great continent. Peary asserts that he has seen signs of land in the vicinity of the "continent" which he has named "Believe" which indicated that they were parts of a continent.

Steransson hopes to reach Nome, Alaska, the last remaining station north of the Arctic circle, from here. He expects to round Point Barrow the last week in July. His vessel is the "Karluk" an old whaler. His party will consist of 12 men, all experienced in Arctic exploration.

The expedition is being made at the expense of the Canadian government. It had been expected that Steransson would make the trip for the National Geographic society of Washington and the American Museum of Natural History of New York, which institution offered him $40,000. The Canadian government, however, offered him $75,000.

In the accompanying photographs are shown: Viktor Steransson, in a suit, and a group of men in outdoor gear, including hats and boots, standing together.

as one of themselves. He says that he did not look unlike some of them. For several years he lived with them, took many photographs and studied them in their lives and habits.

If Steransson succeeds in discovering the theoretical continent of the Arctic, he will doubtless bring back with him much scientific data of extreme value and scientists await the first reports of his expedition with great interest.

A man living at Auburn, New York, had a severe attack of kidney and bladder trouble. Being a working man, not wanting to lose time, nor run up a heavy doctor's bill, he cured himself completely by using Foley's Kidney Pills. A year later he says: "It is a pleasure to report that the cure was permanent." He has had no return whatever of the pain, backache and bladder trouble. His name is J. A. Farmer, and he lives at Auburn, N. Y. I recommend Foley's Kidney Pills as a very effective cure for kidney and bladder trouble." Robinson Drug Co., Auburn, N. Y.

ROOSEVELT'S PUBLIC LIFE

shall not be admitted in the future progress of the hearing. It was explained in court, a person who has traveled extensively with the former president or who has been associated with him with any degree of confidence, may testify as to his reputation. For a man who heard the colonel deliver a political speech or saw him for only a few minutes in a crowd may not testify as to his general reputation, although he may tell how the colonel acted or appeared at that particular time.

James H. Pound and William H. Van Dusen, Roosevelt's attorneys, said the ruling was agreeable to their argument. Horace Andrews, one of Mr. Newell's counsel, described the present civil action as a "semicriminal case" and pleaded for unrestricted admission of evidence by the defense.

Only Sipped a Little.
Almost every phase of Colonel Roosevelt's public life was touched upon by today's witnesses. All of them spoke with emphasis when they expressed personal knowledge in denials as the editorial charges, that the colonel "gets drunk and that not infrequently," and all his intimate friends know it. It was asserted that whenever Colonel Roosevelt drank champagne or wine or mint juleps, it was out of courtesy to his host at some social function, that he often took only a mouthful from a wine glass and that on one occasion he ordered a railroad company not to place in his special for the usual supply of liquor placed in such cars.

The witnesses were Mr. Bacon, Truman H. Newberry, former secretary of the navy, John Callan O'Loughlin, a Washington newspaper correspondent, Julius F. Curtis, a New York newspaper man and Gilson Gardner, a St. Louis lawyer who, after having testified the day before, was recalled.

It was a question put to Mr. O'Loughlin that brought out the argument of attorneys over the admissibility of certain testimony. Mr. O'Loughlin was asked whether he had heard a general report circulated among newspaper men that the colonel was in the habit of getting drunk. After the court's ruling, he was permitted to answer. His answer was that he had heard such rumors, but that he regarded them as wholly unfounded and not worthy of notice.

Mr. Newberry and Mr. Bacon were equally positive as to Colonel Roosevelt's habits of sobriety.

Cuban Campaign Recalled.
Memories of the Cuban campaign were brought to Colonel Roosevelt as he sat in the court room. A telegram was handed him from Hugh T. Herbert of St. Paul, Minn., referring to a letter which the colonel wrote while in camp in Cuba to L. G. Fulton at Corsicana, Texas, about the use of whiskey among soldiers while on duty.

It is likely that Colonel Roosevelt's side of the case will be completed tomorrow. Among those still to take the stand are Clifford Pinchot, James R. Garfield, Regis H. Post, Lawrence Abbott, William Leach, Jr., W. Emile Roosevelt, a cousin to the colonel, and two other regular men who traveled with the colonel when he was president.

Although Colonel Roosevelt, on returning to Europe from his African hunt, was obliged to attend banquets and receptions tendered him by monarchs, he never indulged in champagne to an immoderate degree, was the testimony of O'Loughlin, who said he had been associated with Colonel Roosevelt for 20 years. The witness said he met the former president on the Nile, after the African hunt, and accompanied him as far as Paris acting as secretary to Colonel Roosevelt. O'Loughlin also accompanied the colonel on various campaigns in this country.

"During your 20 years' experience with Colonel Roosevelt, have you ever seen him in the slightest degree under the influence of liquor?"

Never Saw Him Drunk.

"I not only never saw him under the influence of liquor, but it seems absolutely silly to me to have anyone suggest that he ever was," replied O'Loughlin emphatically.

"At banquets have you ever seen him drink any liquor?"

"At banquets he sometimes took a glass of white wine. I never saw him drink more than one glass of champagne."

O'Loughlin described the various dinners, official and otherwise, given at Washington, including dinners at the Gridiron club.

"Will you tell this jury whether Mr. Roosevelt mixed his drinks at all or not?"

"If he took champagne he never took anything else."

A question involving the custom of former presidents as regard to liquors at banquets caused objection by counsel for the defense. The court held that was competent for the plaintiff to show whether Col. Roosevelt followed custom in the use of liquor in the White house.

Followed Custom.

O'Loughlin said his first experience with presidents began with the second Cleveland administration and Col. Roosevelt followed the precedent of Presidents Cleveland and McKinley in serving wines at public dinners.

"Are you not in charge of some work of the Progressive party?" O'Loughlin was asked on cross-examination.

"I am not," he answered.

O'Loughlin said Col. Roosevelt had appointed him assistant secretary of the treasury and he had gone on a mission to Japan for the Roosevelt administration. He said he went to Japan the same year that Col. Roosevelt ordered the Atlantic fleet to the Pacific.

"Now, you mention that Col. Roosevelt sent the fleet to the Pacific. Was that a measure taken because of the relations between this country and Japan? Was it to prevent war?"

"Well, yes, it was perfectly evident that Japan would not go to war with this country if it was apparent that this country was more powerful. It was one of the measures taken by various libel suit decisions were cited by Mr. Pound. In one case a man merely had said "He stole my horse." Another case was that of a woman who sued for libel because an editor had said she stole a pocket book which she found on the street.

"The defense has said this case is unprecedented," shouted Mr. Pound. "It is true there has been a reluctance on the part of presidents to come into court, but I can cite you a recent case where the king of England prosecuted a newspaper for charging him with being a bigamist in marrying a woman while he was a sailor and before he married the present queen. Would it have been a defense for the editor to have come into court and say 'Oh, I only knew what I heard and I published what I heard'?"

The argument of attorneys in the absence of the jury, was still on when court adjourned until 2 o'clock this afternoon.

Great Crowds Present.

Greater crowds than any since the trial of the suit began surrounded the court house this afternoon and clamored for admittance. So great was the jam on the long flight of steps leading to the main entrance that it was necessary for the sheriff to lock the doors, so that the attorneys and others entitled to seats inside were required to enter by a side door. All the balconies in the court room were filled, chiefly with women anxious to get a glimpse of the former president as he came back and of some isolated from the floor of the room, including many chairs placed in the aisles, were occupied.

When court convened at 2 p. m., the attorneys continued their argument over legal questions, the jurors having been excluded.

Robert Bacon, former secretary of state and former ambassador to France, scheduled as the plaintiff's witness, to follow O'Loughlin, found himself locked out when he returned for the afternoon session. Mr. Bacon went from one door to another seeking entrance without avail, although court was already in session.

Eventually Sheriff Mahoney observed

"I think I suffered every pain a woman could before I began taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and I think it saved this baby's life, as I lost my first one."

"My health has been very good ever since, and I praise your medicine to all my friends."—Mrs. VERA WILKES, R. F. D. No. 1, Plattsburg, Miss.

The darkest days of husband and wife are when they come to look forward to a childless and lonely old age.

Many a wife has found herself incapable of motherhood owing to some derangement of the feminine system, often curable by the proper remedies.

In many homes once childless there are now children because of the fact that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound makes women normal.

If you want special advice write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. (confidential), Lynn, Mass. Your letter will be opened, read and answered by a woman and held in strict confidence.

Studebaker

"That's the sixth Studebaker we've passed—the only kind to invest in."

"The only kind—because, as I always say, when a man puts money in a thing he wants to know that he's going to get the worth of it out again."

"That's plain business as I look at it."

"That's why I say the price doesn't tell you anything at all. There's only one thing that talks except the wagon itself. That's the name of the maker."

"When you buy a Studebaker you're buying a vehicle that has behind it and in it sixty years of experience—sixty years of success—and sixty years of reputation for the square deal. That's why a Studebaker always looks good to me."

"My father used to say that Studebaker never was as sure as a United States bank note. He was talking after having used Studebaker vehicles since he was a lad, and he told me his father before him said, 'Be safe—get a Studebaker.'"

"Vehicle builders can't hold that sort of reputation now-a-days without delivering the goods. A Studebaker wagon has the best in it. That's why a man gets the most out of it—why it's always an economy."

"Dealers may say to you something else is 'just as good.' But when you buy a Studebaker, you're making a safe investment every time."

JOHNSON ARRESTED AGAIN

CHICAGO, May 28.—Jack Johnson, negro pugilist, who recently was found guilty of violating the Mann white slave law, was arrested again today, this time on the charge of cutting out the muffler while riding in his automobile on North Clark street.

GOOD BILL AT EMPRESS

"The Rose of Mexico," with its people, heads the bill at the Empress. G. Molares, its author and he is sending his son and daughter along with the company of acrobats and dancers to lend their aid to the success of the undertaking. The act is the most pretentious that Mr. Molares has sent over the S. C. circuit.

Welch, Mealy and Montrose are touring the Empress circuit after a veritable triumph in New York city, where they played for months. "Scream Welch," a poorly comedian, who is said to be one of the funniest men on the stage, is a member of the trio. Their offering is called "Play Ball." These baseball games are one continual scream from beginning to end.

Jennie Fletcher is a feature at the Empress. Miss Fletcher possesses a remarkably sweet voice of unusual range and brilliancy. Aside from being a vocal artist she possesses a pitifully humorous appearance. Her repertoire includes many well known songs. The clever comedienne, Bow and Dye, are the laughing features of the bill at the Empress. They have been making good all along the line, with their parodies and bright patter. Their comedy comes via a series of battleships, and there is said to be no end to their capability as performers.

"Christmas on the Comstock," a beautiful little playlet, is an attraction at the Empress this week. The act has been enthusiastically received all along the circuit. The featured players are Alonzo, Glenwood, and Raymond Madison, both former legitimate stars. Miss Glenwood, aside from being one of the most fascinating women on the vaudeville stage, is recognized as one of the leading child impersonators. Mr. Madison was Mrs. Leslie Carter's leading man for several years. The story concerns the famous Comstock lode.

Two skaters who were imported by Sullivan & Considine from London for a tour of the circuit are called "Skaters in London," who were a big feature of the Palace theater in London. They have been characterized as the most graceful roller skaters that have been sent to this side of the Atlantic. Some of their tricks are said to be of a sensational order. Some of the things done by these skaters is the classic whirlwind dance, including the giant swing. The act is said to surpass anything so far imported this season.

The great calamity in Omaha was quickly overshadowed by the terribly disastrous floods in Ohio. Great suffering and sickness from colds and exposure resulted. Folex's Compound helped in collecting L. Poole, 211 California St., Omaha, writes: "My daughter had a severe cold and cough, but Folex's Compound cured her in a few days. My wife would not leave her house without it. We have used it for years, always with good results." Robinson Drug Co. Adv.

COUNT SCZECZENYI LOST $4,000,000.

Above: Countess Szechenyi (Gladys Vanderbilt), and below: Count Szechenyi of Budapest. Unusually speculation, involving a loss of about $4,000,000, it is said, is responsible for Count Szechenyi's leaving here and going to Berlin. The money was brought to him by his wife, who was Gladys Vanderbilt. The count and three other Hungarian noblemen had tried to form a combination of capital to control various large enterprises in Austria and suffered very heavy losses.
